ar15.com/forums/General/I-think

I think I might be insane (Page 1 of 3)

Page 1 / 3

Towely

2005 WI, USA
36074
100% (2)

Posted: Yesterday 11:57:38 PM EDT

Never really talked about this as it was never an issue. It seems to come and go once in a great while with no rhyme or reason, generally lasting for anywhere from an hour to half a day. It hasn't increased in severity or frequency with age at all.

Best way I can describe it is feeling completely disconnected from reality. It doesn't feel like I'm part of the world, more like everything I'm seeing is just a movie. Even my own self, hell sometimes I'll look down at my own hands and feel a million miles away from them. When I tell my fingers to move it feels like there is no connect between my self awareness and the movement of my fingers.

I KNOW right from wrong but I can't FEEL right from wrong. In other words I KNOW I shouldn't go 120mph down the road on my motorcycle but I don't get the feeling that it would be a bad idea because I could hurt myself or someone else, or get arrested. It isn't that I don't care if someone gets hurt, there isn't just a lack of empathy, self control, or emotion... there is just a complete and total void of anything at all.

When this happens I don't have any impulses to do anything crazy or stupid at all either. If anything, when I get like this

15 243

Aaron Majunkout
@Ascendid1

This guy kicks ass

9:17 PM · Jul 20, 2020 · Twitter for Android

15 Retweets 243 Likes

Mark Beef @brogadishu · 4h
Replying to @Ascendid1
ar15.com lmao

1 17

Aaron Majunkout @Ascen... · 4h
It's a good mixture of chill gun bros shitposting and statist bootlicking boomers pecking angrily with their pointer fingers into 2003 imac's

1 21